BEST BET: Race 9 - #7 Baffin Bay

Baffin Bay almost made it three in a row last time out when running a big race to finish second when coming from far off the pace. He is usually not positioned that far back, and certainly has his quirks, but proved last time out that he was competitive in this company and that he has plenty of talent. He gets a slight stretch out today to a mile and 1/16, and I think that should be the perfect distance for him.

LONGSHOT: Race 11 - #4 Cairenn

I'm taking a price in the graded stake of the day, looking for Cairenn to pull the upset in the G2 Inside Information. This mare is coming off a layoff, but seems to be training very forwardly at Palm Meadows for trainer Graham Motion. She has run well fresh in the past, and is running at 7 furlongs today, which I believe to be her best distance. She got back to the winners circle at Laurel Park last time out, but prior to that was facing tough graded stakes competition.
