

RACE BY RACE ANALYSIS

By Acacia Courtney

Wednesday , February 20, 2019

RACE 1:

3 - Vin for the Win

5 - El Playon

1 - High Rolling Dude

SELECTIONS: 3-5-1-2

RACE 2:

1 - Maximum Security

3 - First and Three

4 - Star Player

SELECTIONS: 1-3-4-6

RACE 3:

1 - Meetmeonline

2 - Daddy's Melody

7 - Cuccidati

SELECTIONS: 1-2-7-3

RACE 4:

2 - Portal

4 - Positivist

1 - Benjamin

SELECTIONS: 2-4-1-6

RACE 5:

7 - Notcho Daddy

3 - Honolulu Express

9 - Never Bad

SELECTIONS: 7-3-9-1

RACE 6:

1 - The Mighty Judge

2 - Tropical Tapistry

8 - Talking Zip

SELECTIONS: 1-2-8-6

RACE 7:

1 - Collins Ave

7 - Willing to Speed

2 - False Info

SELECTIONS: 1-7-2-5

RACE 8:

4 - Beautiful Lover

10 - Tappitty Tappitty

5 - Double Medal

SELECTIONS: 4-10-5-9

RACE 9:

3 - C'Era Una Volta

5 - Dunk

9 - Valdocco

SELECTIONS: 3-5-9-4

RACE 10:

12 - Bright Venezuelan

10 - Band of Angels

4 - All About Stella

SELECTIONS: 12-10-4-9

RACE 11:

4 - Jammin Jimtown

11 - Thinkingofcharles

9 - Overleveraged

SELECTIONS: 4-11-9-3

BEST BET: Race 8 - #4 Beautiful Lover

This filly is going to be a very short price, but I think it is valid. She ran solidly in her debut race, finishing fourth while beaten three lengths. Looking back at the replay again, it had to be an educational debut for her. She had the rail post position and sent early, but several others had the same idea. She ended up settling just off the pace but had already used quite a bit of energy in the early part of the race. We should see some more today.

LONGSHOT: Race 5 - #7 Notcho Daddy

I'm taking a shot against the likely favorite, Honolulu Express, and I think you'll find value on pretty much everyone else. Notcho Daddy is switching back to the turf, where he has only competed once, but it was against tougher than what he faces today and he finished fourth, showing early speed. Javier Castellano has the call for trainer Mike Dini, and this gelding should be a nice price.